

Cookbook Project 2009

We want your best recipes!

We are excited to announce the development of a Coppell Farmers Market Cookbook to celebrate the tradition and heritage of our great local resource! It is our intent to have the book ready for distribution in late fall 2009, just in time for the 2009 holiday season. The book will also serve as a fundraiser for the market.

We invite growers, friends of the market and customers to submit healthy recipes that use farm fresh products. Recipes will be selected for the following categories:

Brunches & Breads	Appetizers & Drinks	Soups & Salads	Sides & Bites
Vegetables	Pasta, Rice & Grains	Fish & Seafood	Meat & Poultry
Desserts & Treats	Everything Else

Recipes should include the following information:

Title	Description
Ingredients	Preparation Instructions
Source (who or where it's from)	Notes (special cooking instructions, adaptations, or a story about the recipe, 255 characters max.)

How to Submit your recipe:

Submit your recipes electronically in Word format by August 30, 2009 to coppellproduce@gmail.com. Recipes will be selected for appropriateness, variety and total number within our space limitations.

Cookbooks will cost approx. $35 (plus shipping/handling) and will go on sale online this fall. Watch for our notice that the book is finished and ready to order!

If you have questions about your recipe submission, contact us at coppellproduce@gmail.com or 972-304-7043.
